Open Rank Positions, Peking University

Company Information: The Center for Statistical Science at Peking University is a cross-campus research center of Statistics. Members of the Center consist of statistical faculties from several schools within PKU. The goals of the center are to integrate statistical faculties across different schools in producing high quality statistical research and engaging in cross-discipline collaborations within this leading university in China. Since its establishment in 2010, the Center has recruited 7 faculties. There are more than 20 additional faculties affiliated with the center on the main campus of PKU.

Position Title: Multiple Open Rank tenure track or tenured positions in Statistics, with expected starting date in 2017.

There is one opening jointly with Guanghua School of Management’s Business Statistics and Econometrics Department. It is targeted at fresh Ph. D. or mid-career candidates with established record of research and teaching. Candidates with promising research potentials are also considered.

There are two open rank positions with Department of Probability and Statistics (DPS) and Department of Financial Mathematics (DFM), School of Mathematical Science. The position with DPS can be in either Statistics or Probability. In the case of probability, candidates whose research areas are closely related to the modern statistics and who can provide probability support to modern statistical theory and practice are desired. The position with DFM is for someone whose research agenda is in Financial Mathematics or related fields.

Duties & Responsibilities: Research, teaching, graduate student supervision, collaborative research. Teaching is conducted in Chinese and/or English.

Position Qualifications: Ph. D. in Statistics or related fields, strong research background or potential, good communication skills and an interest in teaching.

Salary Range: Regionally competitive salary depending on the level of appointment and experience.

Benefits: In additional to the standard benefits for faculties at PKU, a settling down allowance and a start-up grant will be provided.

Web Site: http://www.stat-center.pku.edu.cn

Application Address: All candidates should submit their CV, representative research papers if any, and names and contacts of three referees via email to stat-center@pku.edu.cn. (Candidate should specify clearly in the application letter which position he/she would like to apply.)
Furthermore, candidates who are interested in the opening jointed with Guanghua School of Management’s Business Statistics and Econometrics Department should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and copies of important publications and/or working papers. Applicants at the level of Assistant Professor must arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted online. Applicants at the Associate and Full Professor levels should submit the names of at least ten distinguished scholars who can provide references. All candidates must apply online at http://123.57.237.229:8100/GSM/login.html.

Inquiries may be made to Center's joint Directors: Song Xi Chen (csx@gsm.pku.edu.cn) or Zhi Geng (zhigeng@pku.edu.cn).

The positions are open until they are filled. We encourage applicants to apply earlier while the positions are available.

Contact Email: stat-center@pku.edu.cn

Application Deadline: Jan 31st 2017. The positions are open until they are filled.