Position Title: Assistant Professor

Req # 03158

The Department of Statistics at the University of Chicago invites applications from exceptionally qualified candidates for faculty positions at the rank of Assistant Professor. As part of a University of Chicago initiative, we seek individuals doing advanced research in computational and applied mathematics or in related fields. It is expected that successful applicants will engage in the direction of doctoral dissertations, as well as teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Interdisciplinary collaboration is particularly valued.

While applicants do not need to be specifically trained in statistics, by the time of hire they must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. in some field of mathematics, applied mathematics, statistics, or computational science. Appointments may be made jointly with another department in the University. Demonstrated research excellence appropriate to the rank is essential; some teaching experience in the mathematical sciences is preferred.

Applicants must apply online at the University of Chicago Academic Jobs website at http://tinyurl.com/j57aldg. To be considered an applicant, a cover letter, CV, and three letters of reference are required. Referral letter submission information will be provided during the application process. You may also upload research and teaching statements as well as up to three relevant research publications, but they are not required.

Application screening will begin December 1, 2016, and continue until all positions are filled or the search is closed.
