Full-time Lecturer
Department of Statistics

The Department of Statistics at the University of California, Irvine, invites applications for a full-time lecturer position for the 2016-2017 academic year, with the possibility of an extension to subsequent years. The academic year begins in late September and ends in mid-June. The pay period for a full-time lecturer appointment is from July 1 through June 30 (a nine-month service period paid over twelve months).

The primary responsibility for this position is to teach nine (quarter/trimester) courses per year (three per quarter) in the Department of Statistics. Additional administrative or advising duties may be assigned by the Chair of the Department, with compensatory reduction in teaching duties.

Applicants should hold a graduate degree in Statistics or a closely related field (Ph.D. preferred), and have a strong interest, and a proven record of excellence, in teaching undergraduate statistics courses at the university level. Salary will be commensurate with degree and experience.

The Department of Statistics offers MS and PhD degrees in Statistics, an undergraduate minor in Statistics, and a BS degree in Data Science. UC Irvine is located 4 miles from the Pacific Ocean and 45 miles south of Los Angeles. The area offers a very pleasant year-round climate, numerous recreational and cultural opportunities, and one of the highest-ranked public school systems in the nation. For more information about the department, visit http://www.stat.uci.edu/.

Completed applications containing a cover letter, curriculum vita, description of teaching experience, and teaching evaluations (if available), should be uploaded electronically. In addition, a separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion should be included in the application materials. Apply online at https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF03360.

Review of applications will begin on April 18, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of California, Irvine is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer advancing inclusive excellence. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, protected veteran status, or other protected categories covered by the UC nondiscrimination policy.
