The Department of Statistics & Applied Probability at University of California, Santa Barbara invites applications for a Lecturer position. Applicants are expected to show a strong commitment to excellence in teaching undergraduate statistics. Appointment can be either full-time or part-time and can cover either part of, or the entire Academic Year 2017-18 and Summer 2018. Reappointment is possible provided there are ongoing Departmental needs and satisfactory performance. Teaching duties would include introductory statistics courses, and upper-division applied statistics. Salary is based on UC’s salary scales and depends on qualifications. Candidates should discuss their scholarly pursuits (such as statistics research, statistics education, statistical consulting) in their cover letter.

Advanced degree (MS/PhD or equivalent from a foreign institution) in Mathematics, Statistics or related field or advanced Actuarial credentials (Fellow of CAS or Fellow of SOA, or equivalent).

To apply submit CV, Cover Letter, and arrange for two letters of recommendation, ideally directed towards teaching. Materials should be submitted electronically via UC Recruit https://recruit.ap.ucsb.edu/apply/JPF01071

Screening for the position will commence on September 17, 2017 and will continue as needed. The posting will remain open until September 30, 2017 to accommodate department needs. If you would like to continue to be considered after that time, and the pooled position is advertised again, you will need to submit a new application. Please note: The use of a Lecturer pool does not guarantee that an open position exists at the time you are applying. See the review date specified in UC Recruit to learn whether the department is currently reviewing applications for an upcoming opening. If there is no future review date specified, your application may not be considered at this time. The department is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through teaching.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.