Analytics Development Program

Analytics Development Program – Seattle, WA
Start Dates: January 2020, July 2020, September 2020

It’s a data-driven world. Be part of a team that harnesses the power of data to analyze performance trends, identify opportunities, and keep Liberty Mutual moving forward.

The details

Do you love, love, love data? Are you a bona fide problem solver? Are you looking to jumpstart your career with a global Fortune 100 company straight out of college?

The Analytics Development Program helps aspiring graduates (like you!) develop a broad knowledge base through training, mentorship, and rotational assignments.

Here’s a fantastic opportunity to hone your critical thinking and analytical skills through a variety of key qualitative and quantitative methods, while growing your technical skills, such as data mining, pricing strategy, and business case development.

Each rotation will offer you a high-level understanding of how we use data analytics in the insurance industry, all while having access to leadership teams throughout Liberty Mutual.

What you’ve got

- You have 0-2 years of professional experience.
- You hold a bachelor’s degree in Economics, Finance, MIS, Mathematics, Statistics, or a related field with a minimum 3.0 cumulative GPA.
- You possess strong analytical and quantitative skills that fuel your passion for identifying and investigating patterns and trends.
- You’re good with people and know how to lead.
- You have experience with technical programs, including MS Office, and have some knowledge of SAS, R, STATA, and/or SQL.
- You must have permanent work authorization in the United States.
