Analytics Development Program Internship

Analytics Development Program Internship—Seattle, WA

It’s a data-driven world. Be part of a team that harnesses the power of data to analyze performance trends, identify opportunities, and keep Liberty Mutual moving forward.

The details

What are you doing this summer? If you enjoy harnessing data to identify and solve complex business problems, our Analytics Development Program Internship might be for you.

When you take part in this 10-to-12-week internship, you’ll have the opportunity to research, analyze, and recommend solutions that can impact business decisions at one of the leading property and casualty insurance companies in the country.

You’ll work individually and as part of a team to gather and analyze data using both qualitative and quantitative methods—all while you enhance your skills and refine your business acumen in the fast-paced insurance industry.

This internship position will also allow you to explore a possible full-time position at Liberty Mutual, a global Fortune 100 company.

What you’ve got

- You have 0-2 years of professional experience.
- You are an undergrad working towards a bachelor’s degree in Economics, Finance, Business, MIS, Mathematics, Statistics, or a related field.
- You hold a minimum 3.0 cumulative GPA.
- You have experience with technical programs, such as SAS and advanced Excel.
- You have strong interpersonal, communication, organizational, and leadership skills.
- You are able to commit to a full-time 10-to-12-week program.
- You must have permanent work authorization in the United States.
